

Bob Markman
President, Markman Capital

Veteran money manager Bob Markman, age 58, has built up a wealth of experience working with investors over three decades, under six Presidents, and through seven bull and six bear markets. His innovative thinking and record of results for clients have been acknowledged among many sources.

The legendary financial journalist Louis Rukeyser wrote, “Bob Markman is one of the nation’s shrewdest judges of no load mutual funds.” Kiplinger’s Personal Finance noted that “His questioning of investment dogma comes across like sunshine piercing the fog.”

Mr. Markman is also one of a select fraternity of portfolio managers to lead a mutual fund to both a five star Morningstar rating and a Lipper Leader Award for the top performing large cap growth fund for the three year period ending 12/31/08. He now devotes his time to writing and managing money for individual investors and retirement plans.

Mr. Markman is a graduate of Northwestern University, has two daughters and lives in Edina, Minnesota with his wife of 28 years, Emilee.
